Stevens:

A Way of Life

Records will show how many students have graduated from Stevens High School. The number is a large one, but what does this prove? Each student at Stevens has had his own experiences, and no one can tell his story except himself. Only one fact may be discerned. The time that each of these countless teenage scholars has spent at Stevens enabled him to better face anything and everything which the future held in store. Stevens is a way of life for those fortunate enough to attend it.

It is undeniably true that the life in any school must center on the pursuit of knowledge. This is especially true at Stevens. The teachers and students over the years have diffused into the Stevens' tradition the importance of outstanding scholastic achievement, and the vast majority of students is stimulated by this intangible atmosphere and buckles down hard.

Laying aside his books, the student is irresistibly drawn into other facets of the Stevens' way of life, through which he may develop his talents and broaden his experience according to his will. Certainly Stevens provides the opportunities for the expansion and development of character, but it is up to the individual as to his taking advantage of these opportunities.

For almost a century, the Stevens' student has enriched his life through work and play. The records may show the number of students that Stevens has graduated, but no record could ever contain all of the experiences and memories which the wonderful way of life at Stevens High School has provided for so many young people.

Highlights of the Year

STEVENS ENTERTAINED the Berlin basketball team once again this year with a specially planned weekend. Leslie Wolcott, Patricia Rollins, Harold Hall, Nathan Ainsworth, and Bernard Revoir complete one of the outstanding posters.

STUDENT COUNCIL and National Honor Society members worked hard to make the Berlin weekend the success that it was. Participants included Harold Hall, Leslie Wolcott, Bernard Revoir, Louis Lizotte, Pat Rollins, Larry Ruest, Bill Kraus.

FOR ONE TOUGH WEEK last summer, the Stevens' football team utilized the facilities of Camp Soangataha for conditioning and a mastering of the basic fundamentals of the game. Rands Pond echoed with "Beat Lebanon," which the team proceeded to do three weeks later.

FATHER AND SON, both ardent mathematicians, Mr. Moore and his son Brian, a Senior this year, are seen discussing an important equation in preparation for a Math V discussion. Mr. Moore is the instructor of this course in the concepts of mathematics, and Brian is one of his students.

INDIAN EDUCATOR, Mr. Bal Krishnam Thaper, visited Stevens this year for several weeks, sponsored by the Federal government's cultural exchange program. Here Mr. Thaper holds a friendly and informal discussion with Nathan Ainsworth, president of the Student Council here at Stevens.

Pursuit of Knowledge the Nucleus of Life-at-Stevens

Students at Stevens show a great interest in the various academic courses offered by the high school. Perhaps a small part of the interest in science courses is centered around the requirement of at least one credit in a science toward graduation. The students can choose from a wide selection of courses which includes biology, physics, chemistry (Gerry Rogers and Mike Hershberg at left,) and physical geography.

Many students enter high school with the idea of choosing those courses which can be easily passed and for which they receive a credit toward graduation. However, little time elapses before they awaken and discover the great importance of a knowledge of the basic subject matter. Soon the harder courses are attacked with great enthusiasm.

Stevens' students seem to sense the growing need for study, as many colleges require high achievement and scholarship for admission.

They Demand and Receive High Achievement

STEVENS HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL, Frederick Carr, arranges the schedule of classes for each student during the summer. This schedule that Mr. Carr prepares becomes the routine plan of our school life. The principal and superintendent have set high goals for academic achievement which give our high school unique characteristics.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS, Newell Paire, supervises the staff of 110 teachers who direct the life and education of approximately 2,150 students.

George Disnard, Assistant Superintendent; Miss Mary Bartlett, Secretary; and Mrs. Lois Townsend, Secretary, comprise the office staff.

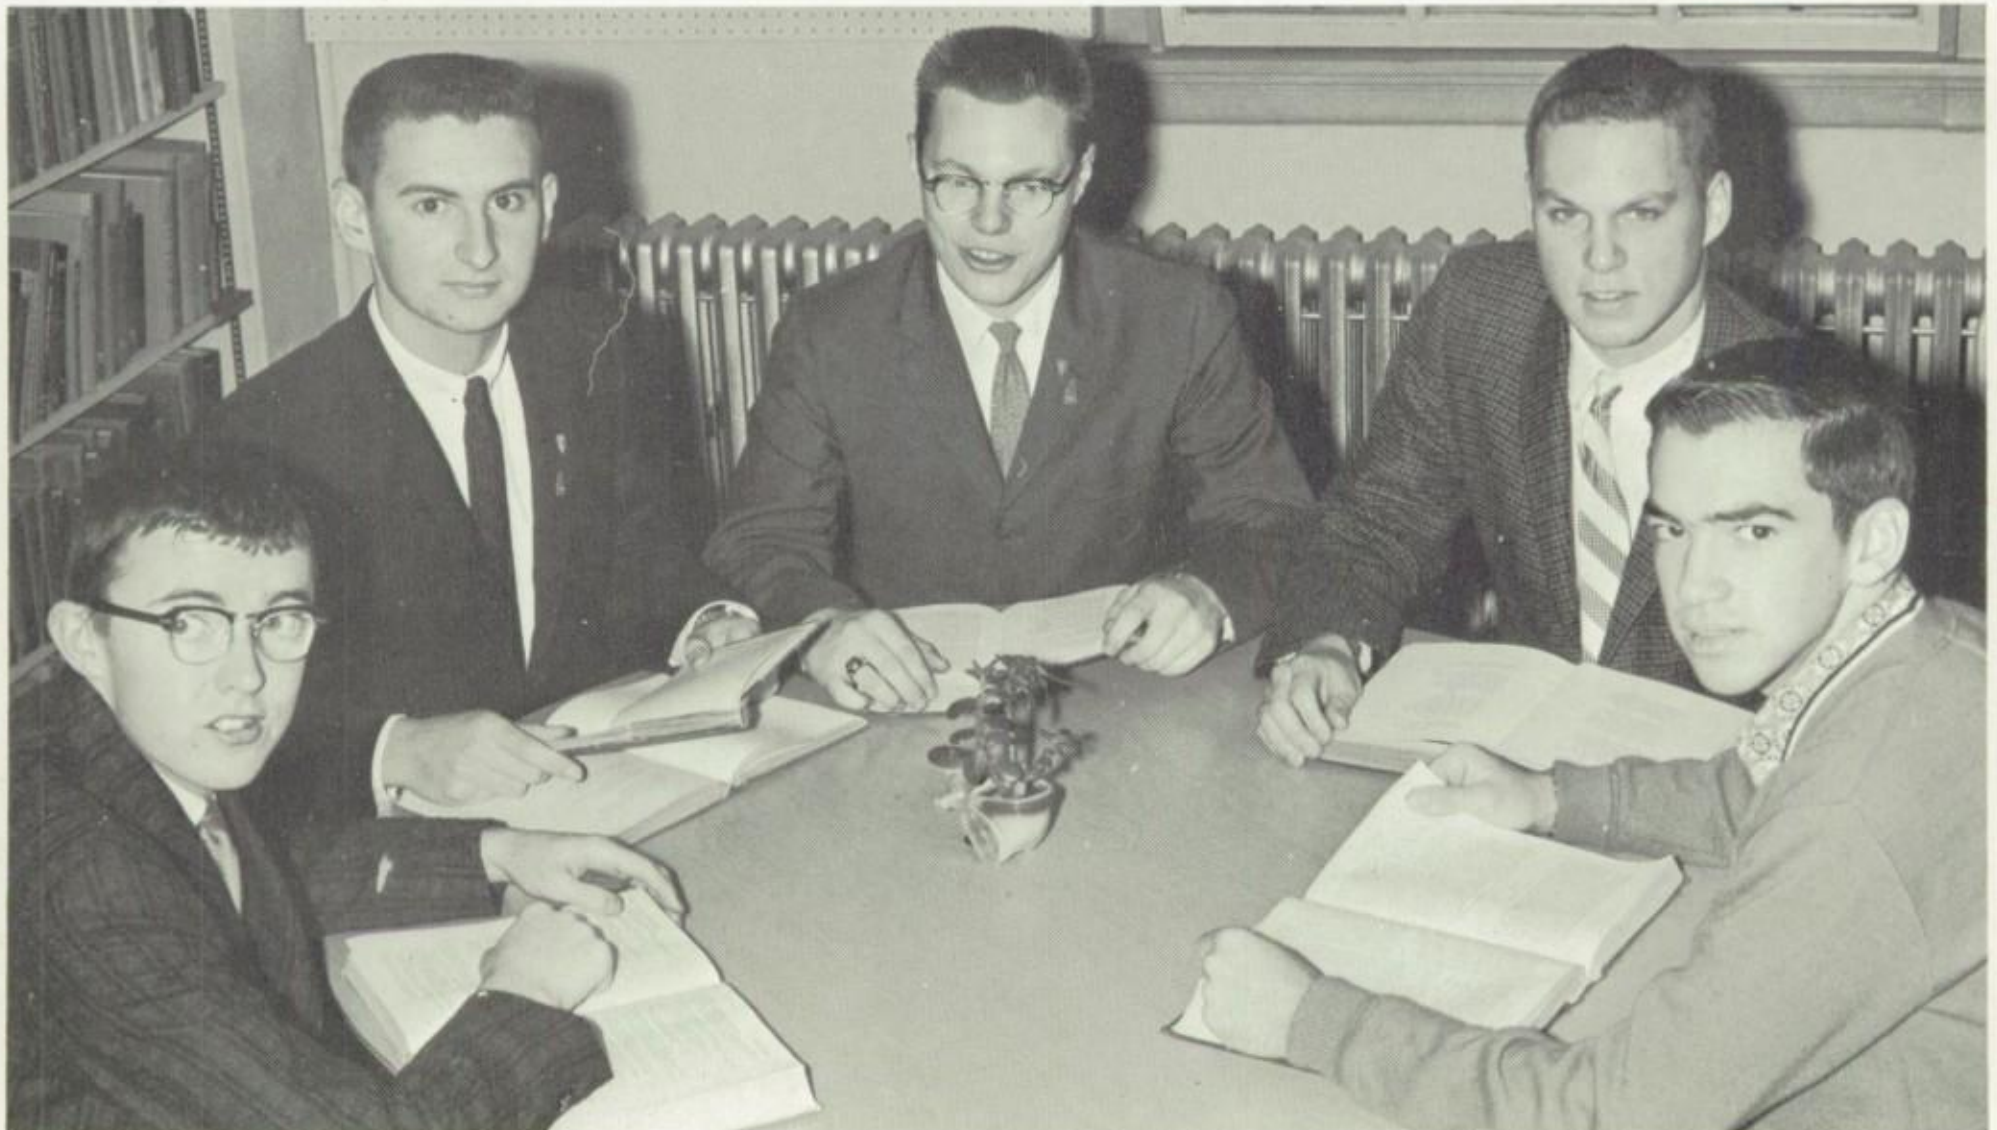

Government Studied Today, Practiced Tomorrow.

ARMING THEMSELVES with information that they will need for Girls' State are Pam Middleton, Pat Cyr, Linda Billings, and Marilyn Brody.

PROMISING STUDENTS OF GOVERNMENT who have accepted the challenge of Boys' State are Dave Harrington, Dave Wilbur, Don Hackett, Spurgeon Wentzell, and Nate Ainsworth.

Scholarship: the Foundation

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY members — STANDING: Nicholas Paul, David Wilbur, Robert Buckley, Robert Michener, Donald Hackett, Bernard Revoir, John Miles, James Chrostowski, adviser Mr. Rollins, Nancy Greenwood, Priscilla

Michaud; SEATED: Beverly Quimby, Leslie Wolcott, Sandra Bostwick, Patricia Rollins, Gerry Rogers, Pauline LaBombard, Linda Billings — have been recognized for leadership, character, scholarship and service.

PRESIDENT OF THE HONOR SOCIETY, Robert Buckley (right), plans with adviser, Mr. Rollins, and Mr. Piper, a member of the faculty selection committee, for the spring induction ceremony for new members. New members are screened by the selection committee before elected by the entire faculty.

of a Way of Life

RANKING SCHOLARS of St. Paul's — Robert Michener, Calculus; Robert B. Buckley, Jr., German I; Bernard Revoir, Modern European History; and Brian Moore, Concepts of Mathematics — discuss the summer's education.

QUALIFYING FOR APPLICATIONS to St. Paul's — SEATED: Susan Arlin, Martha Miner, Lillian Murray, Karlaine Livingston, Sally Little;

STANDING: Richard Skillen, William French, Mike Gendall, Theodore Davis, Herman Groth, Henry Bayer, Harold Hall.

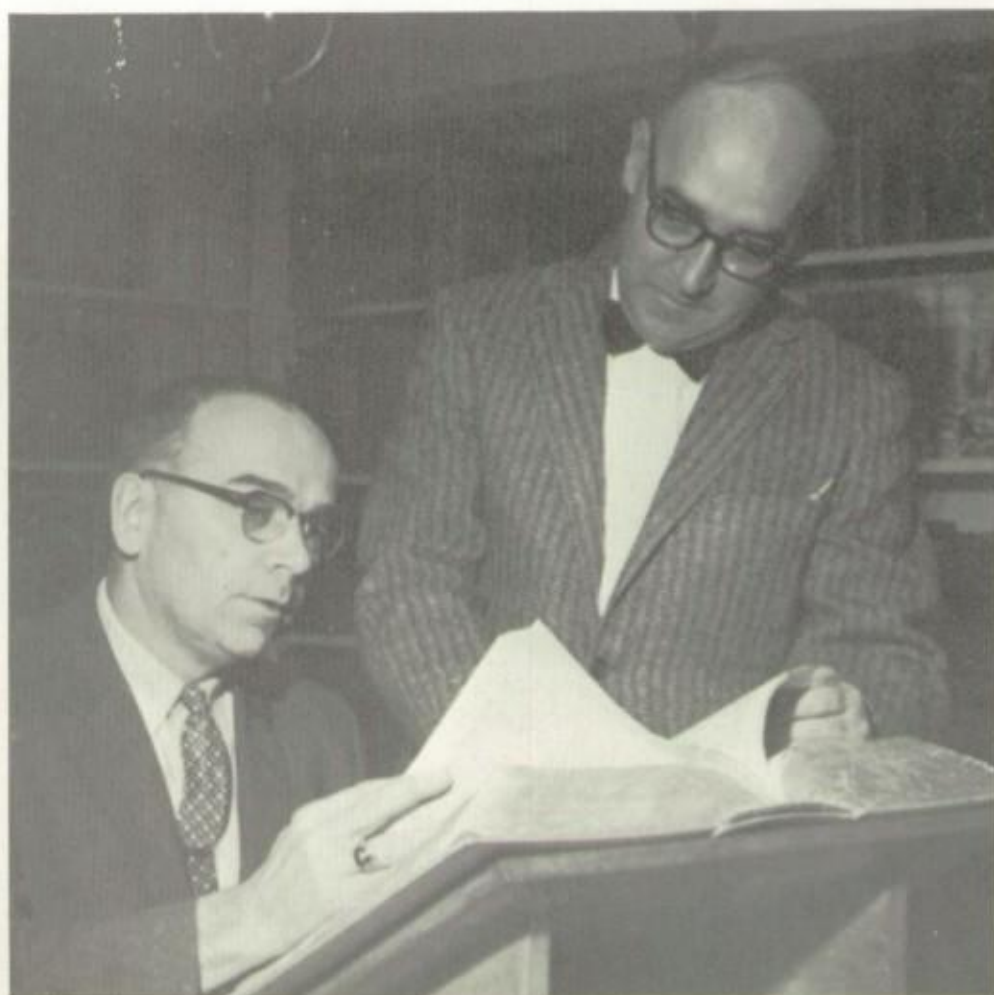

Excellence Is the Reward of Diligence

CLEAR THINKING STUDENTS of the Honors English Class taught by Mr. Paquette include Warren Sklar, John Miles, and Bernie Revoir.

ANALYSING PROOFS in Math V are Jim Chrostowski and Dave Wilbur under the guidance of Mr. Moore. This course is the result of the advanced placement program in mathematics which was initiated four years ago.

RESPONSIBLE FOR BEGINNING the Math V and Honors English courses are Harry Moore, Physics, Physical Geography, Math V, M.A. Columbia, and Normand Paquette, English IV, Honors English, A.M. Middlebury.

Write — Read — Succeed

DISCUSSING THE LARGE TURNOVER of books in the new library are English teachers above: John Tucker, English I, B.Ed. Keene Teachers College; Jesse L. Piper, English III, Ed.M. University of Idaho; Paul Magoon, English I and III, B.Ed. Plymouth Teachers College; Linda Davis, English II, M.A. Syracuse University; and Carroll Holt, English I,II, B. Ed. Keene Teachers College.

READING THE PAST is one way of determining the future, and Miss Tremblay, right, supervises that hall of education.

INSTRUCTING MEMBERS of the junior class in English and familiarizing them with the history of American Literature is Mr. Piper.

History — Chronicler of Experience

PAST AND PRESENT is related to a Modern European History class by the instructor, Mr. John Sideris (above).

MEMBERS OF THE SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT — Frank Connor: Business, Civics; A.B. Oberlin College; John Sideris: Social Studies; M.Ed. University of New Hampshire; and W. Wade Perkins: United States History; B.A. University of New Hampshire — discuss current events.

Language — a Changing Medium

ENTHUSIASTIC LATIN STUDENTS enjoy a friendly discussion with Mr. Jobin. Tina Bendixen and John Harlan are among the students doing outside reading of the classical language.

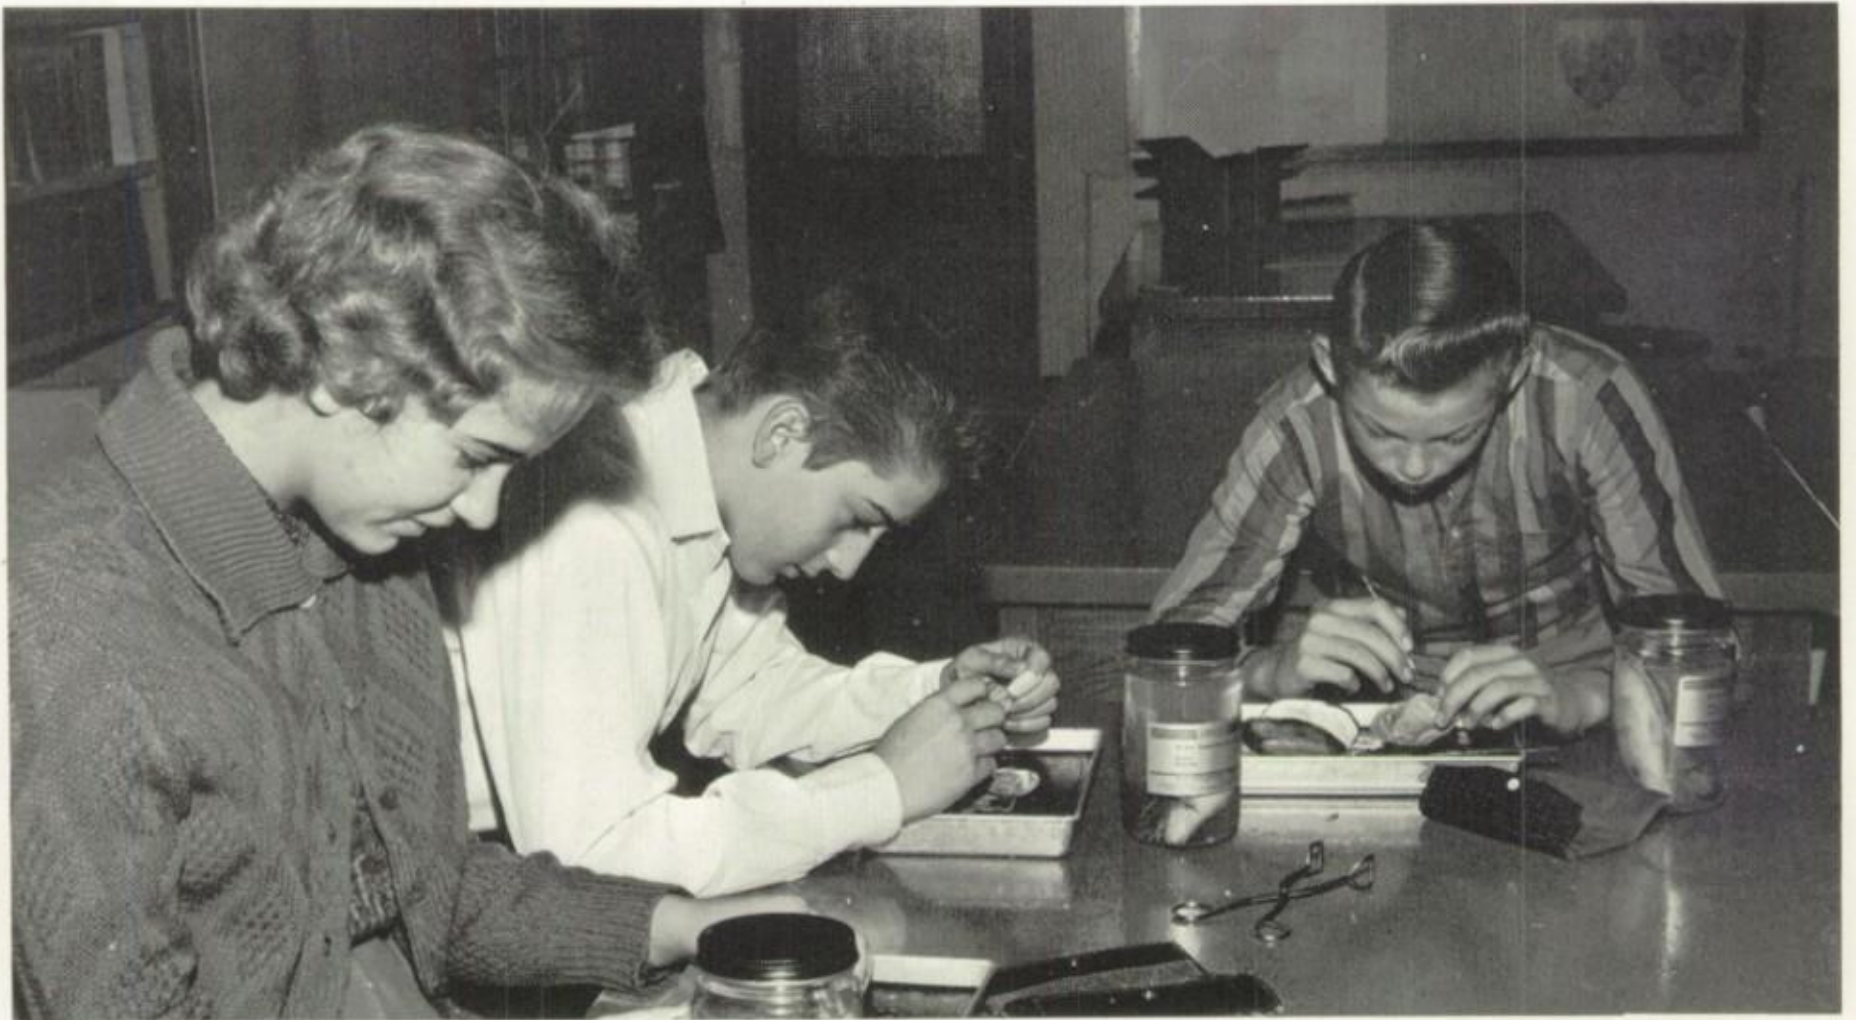

LOOKING OUT UPON THE PROPOSED SITE of the Stevens' addition to include new language laboratories are the Language department — Gerard Rousseau: French I and II; Ed.M. Boston University; Esther Kapala: French I,III,IV; B.A. University of New Hampshire; and Paul J. Jobin: Latin; B.A. Stonehill College.

LEADING A DIALOGUE is Henry Sanders in French I. Languages present many wide fields of expression for interested students. With a renewed emphasis on spoken languages, our language students find fluent speech a necessity.

Science Develops and Seeks

BUSILY DISECTING CLAMS are three avid biology students, Judy Michalenoick, Jerry Eastman, and Jim DePoyster.

CARRYING ON THEIR LOVE FOR SCIENCE outside the classroom, Raymond LeBouthillier, chemistry and Math IV, B.S. University of New Hampshire, and An-

an Ever-Widening Vision

GOING OVER A FINE POINT of mathematics are John Stoughton, M.S. Dartmouth, algebra, physical geography; Paul Potter, B.Ed., Keene Teachers College, algebra, general math; Willard Rollins, B.S., University of New Hampshire, Algebra II; Aletha Childs, A.B. Bucknell, geometry.

EXPANDING THE FIELD OF KNOWLEDGE in mathematics, Mr. Raymond Le-Bouthillier solves a difficult homework problem in Mathematics IV.

Vocational Studies Are Enhanced by New Shop Program

"A change is needed in our vocational training." This belief came to the place last year that required action to satisfy the need. Since the vocational program prepares the student for a position in our community, what can Stevens do to improve the preparation? The answer was the revised program, initiated in the fall of 1961.

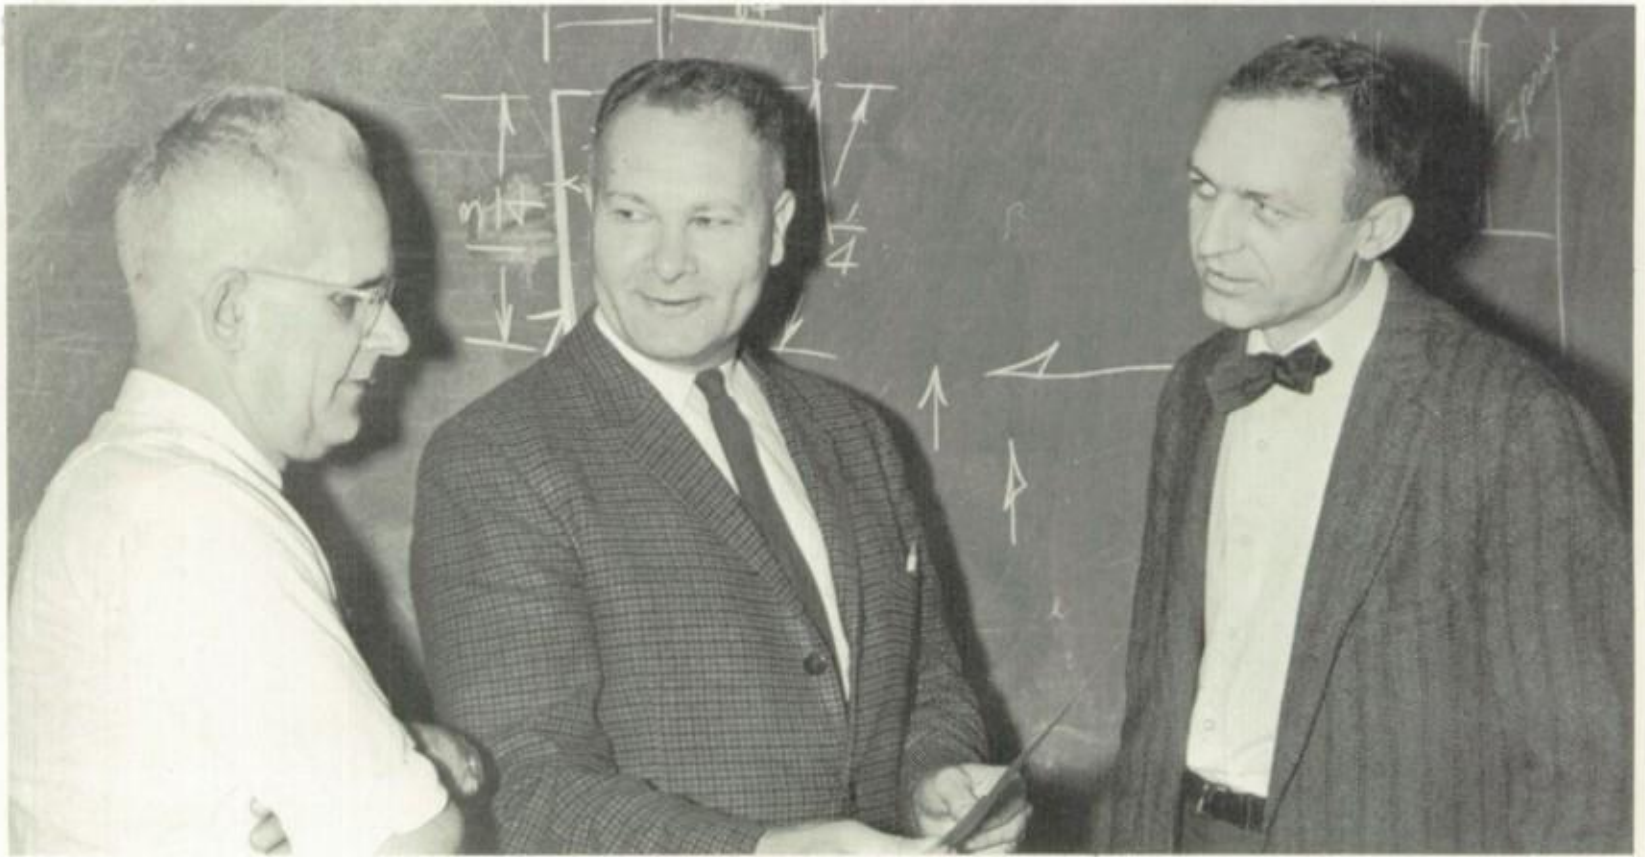

During the first two years, Industrial Arts I and II present a general introduction to mechanical drawing, electricity and woodworking. Gary Blish, at left with Woodworking instructor Victor Pomiecko, is starting the four year course.

Industrial Drafting was initiated to teach advanced engineering design and drawing. In another new course, Building Construction, junior and senior boys study experimental design and construction in the classroom and through practical application with local builders.

Metal Shop I and II complete the industrial arts courses.

Stevens has changed its emphasis in the advanced commercial subjects by intensifying the study of business machines during the senior year. The distributive education program is the final area of the vocational education subjects.

Skill in Mechanical Drawing

REVIEWING THE NEW PROGRAM in industrial education are Ernest Pyer, metal-working; Walter Miner, B.Ed. Keene Teachers College, drawing; Victor Pomiecko, M.Ed. Boston University, woodworking.

PUTTING HIS ABILITIES TO WORK, Wayne LaPorte constructs a mechanical drawing under the new program of industrial design.

Yields Perfection in Production

LEARNING TURNING TECHNIQUES in the metal shop is Joe Butterfield under the direction of Ernest Pyer, metalwork instructor.

BEING INSTRUCTED in the finer points of driving is Larry Karson under the guidance of Joseph Littlefield. The Stevens' driver education program received a special commendation from the New Hampshire Department of Motor Vehicles. This commendation cited not only the instructional program but also the safety record of Stevens' students who have taken the course.

Experience Gained Today

GETTING MATERIAL with which to learn the arts of homemaking are Donna Dole and Miriam Gilchrist (left).

GOOD GROOMING is the essence of good appearance as Polly Zombeck demonstrates in the home-ec. room.

DECORATING SANTA'S BOOT for the Christmas tea are Carol Loiselle, Home Economics I and II, B.Ed. Keene Teachers College; and Emma Swett, Home Economics III and IV, B.Ed. Keene Teachers College.

Will Serve Well Tomorrow

USING THE NEW SEWING MACHINE to sew a fine seam on a special Christmas Project designed to raise funds for a trip to Crooked Mountain, Pauline Howard works diligently on an apron.

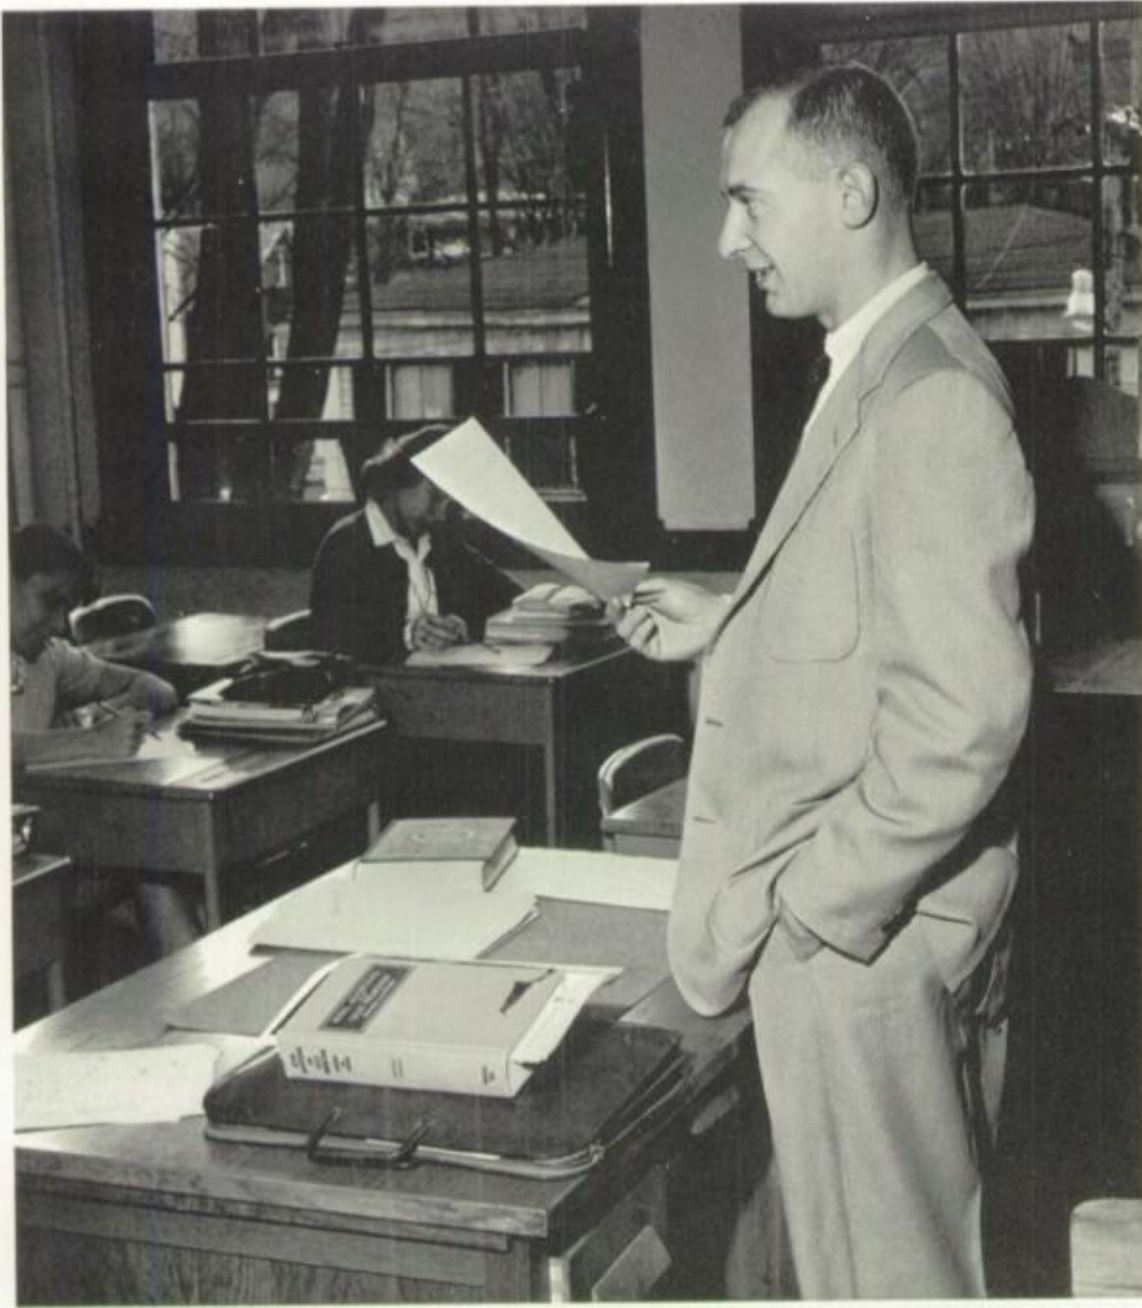

HOME ECONOMICS OFFERS a varied program for any girl, as Marilyn Sheldon demonstrates.

BUSILY PREPARING CHRISTMAS BREAD are future homemakers, Marion Dole and Susan Brooks. Government surplus cranberries were in evidence in both the home economics department and Cafeteria this year.

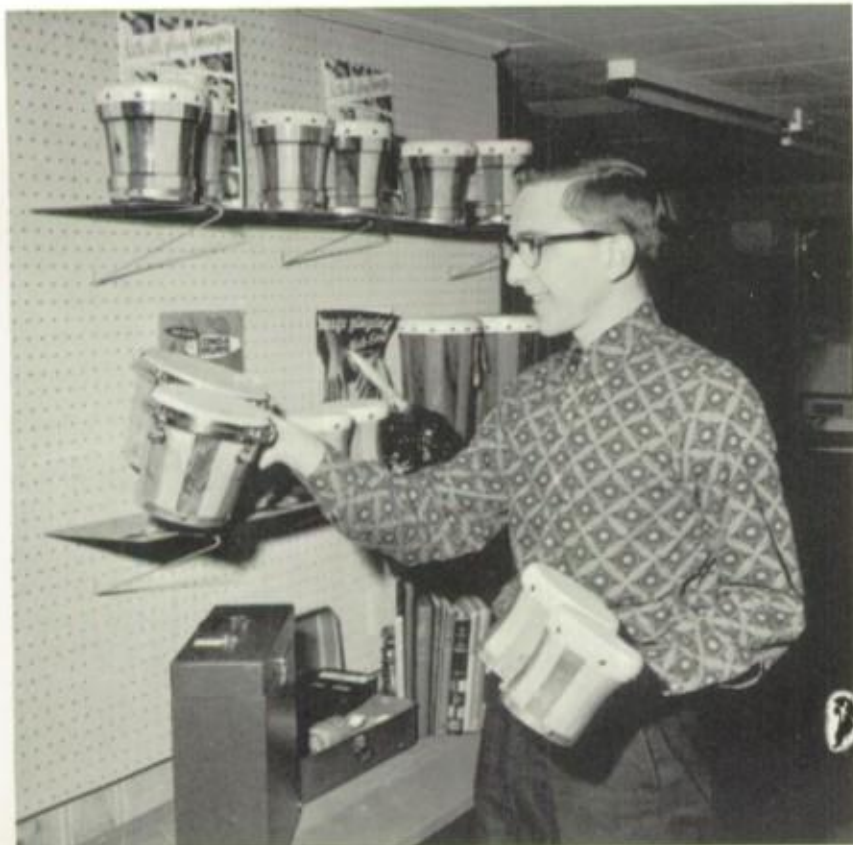

The Future Beckons —

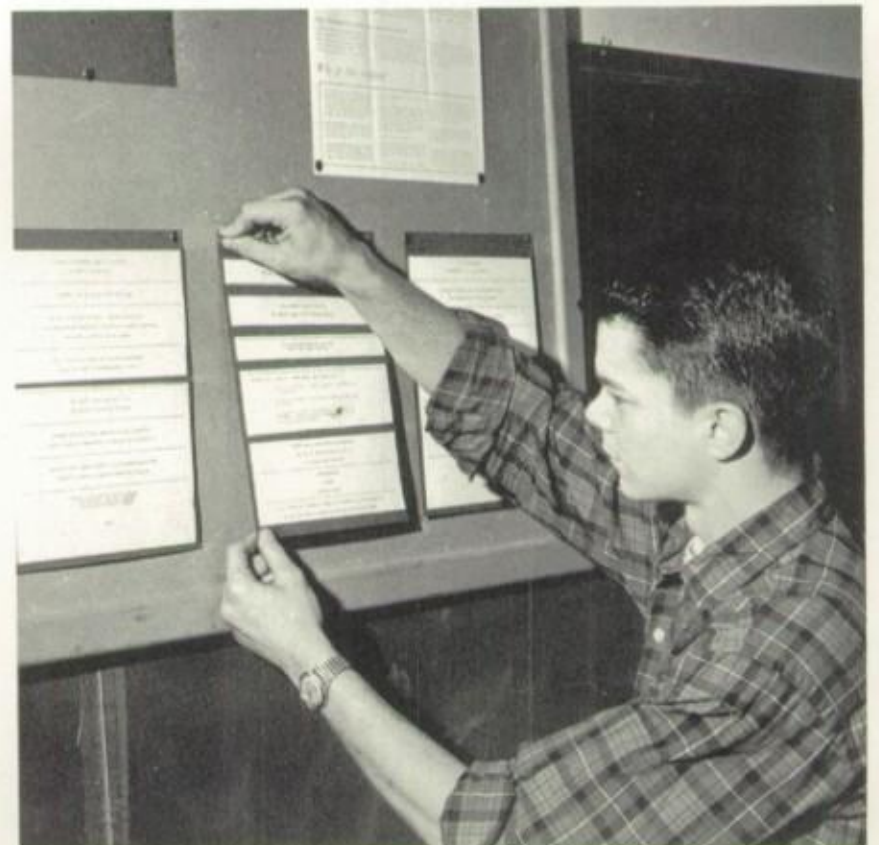

MR. JOHN GOODRICH U.N.H., B.S., the distributive education instructor, is a new teacher here at Stevens this year. Mr. Goodrich endeavors to instruct his students in the principles and mechanics of business and business administration. Outside of the classroom he is the adviser for the Stevens DECA Club.

PRACTICAL AND FIRSTHAND EXPERIENCE in the world of business is an integral part of the distributive education program. The students are given the opportunity to work on a job of their choice. Arnold MacNamara is at work arranging a display on the job which is a part of his individual program.

BULLETIN BOARD DISPLAYS, an important part of many classrooms, are useful in Distributive education. Bob Anderson here prepares a display on selling and retailing.

We Will Be Prepared

COMMERCIAL SUBJECTS are taught by Richard Dyer: B.S. Bruant College, who is also the Senior Play and Dramatic Club adviser, and Alice B. Schriber: Malden Commercial College. Included in the curriculum under their instruction are typing, shorthand, economics, commercial law, and office practice and secretarial practice.

TYPING HAS BEEN REVOLUTIONIZED by the electric typewriter as Pat Cyr discovers. This machine is a recent addition to the equipment in the commercial department and its efficiency has been demonstrated many times.

FUTURE SECRETARIES gain invaluable knowledge and experience on the high school level. Two seniors, Linda Billings and Cynthia Spaulding, gain experience and proficiency on two of the calculators in the SHS commercial department.

Sportsmanship in Athletics Builds Character for Life

Sports at Stevens High School have always comprised a major part of the extra curricular activities. The athletic program at Stevens offers a variety of individual and team sports.

The fall sports include girls' field hockey, cross country and junior varsity and varsity football. At left, Dick Klementowicz, Stevens' quarterback, hands off to Bill Ferriter at Springfield.

Basketball and skiing are the winter sports. Both of these sports are open to boys and girls.

In the spring, tennis teams for both boys and girls, track, baseball, and golf are open to those who wish to participate.

There are many students who take part in the sports at Stevens. The number grew this year as wrestling was added, and girls' field hockey was revived for the first time in three years.

Although winning is a major goal of any team, the goals of sportsmanship, character development, and a good time sometimes compensate when a losing season and external controversies intervene.

As the Cardinals Take the Field

Pre-school football camp, held at Camp Sargent this year for the first time, resulted in valuable workouts and study of football tactics. One of the daily workouts for this year's Steven's team is supervised by Coach Campbell.

Grim Determination Marks Girl Athletes

REVIVED THIS YEAR was the Girls' Field Hockey team after being two years absent from the girls' sports program. Although the team tied only one game and lost the rest, they did very well for such an inexperienced team. FRONT ROW: Brenda Sheldon, Pauline Hunt, Pamela Leamond, Randy McCusker, Wilma Honey, Judy Blight, Muriel Rollins, and Barbara Hoffman. BACK ROW: Bonnie Chamberlain, Ann Fecteau, Roberta Easter, Nancy Greenwood, Judy Stahl, Gerry Rogers, Sally Little, Joanne Noles, Marilyn Eastman, and Sheila George.

ONLY IN ITS SECOND YEAR, the Girls' Ski Team has swiftly become a major girls' sport at Stevens. All the girls on the team have improved immensely, gaining for themselves personal as well as team victories. FRONT ROW: Debbie

Cardinals Pursue National Pastime

DEMONSTRATING COMPETITIVE SPIRIT, the Stevens' baseball team, coached by Mr. Howard Mortenson, completed the 1961 season with six victories and several near misses in their defeats. FRONT: Ron Brown, Gary Holt, Wilfred St. Cyr, Scott Fitz, and Donald Peterson (manager). BACK: Dawson Colby, Nick Paul, Amos Russell, John Miles, Bill Ferriter, Pete Zotto, Mike Gaydo, Hank Tenney, Dick Short and Coach Mortenson.

WINNING SIX and losing one, the JV baseball team showed promise for the future. The JV's defeated KUA, Springfield, Hartford, Lebanon twice, and lost to Windsor. FRONT: Jim Miles, Brian Moore, Larry Ruest, Don Hazelton, and Gary Root. BACK: Dick Stringer, Ken LaClair, Jim Carroll, Dick Ruest, Wayne Reed, Larry McElreavy, and Elliot Davis.

Cards' Comeback Highlights Season

HOTTEST TEAM IN THE STATE was the opinion frequently expressed when considering the 1962 Stevens basketball team. Although at the beginning of the season the team found rough going, they finished the season by winning nine out of eleven games and ending with a record of 12 wins, 7 losses, placing the team in fourth position in Class L.

FRONT: Ray Wentzell, Bill Ferriter, Ken LaClair, Spurgeon Wentzell, Tom Kittredge, Peter Zotto; BACK: Coach Stoughton, Henry Tenney, Bill Sylvester, Phil Cohen, Bill Tenney, Brian Lizotte, and Dick Klementowicz, and Dick Ruest, manager.

STEALING THE BALL, a Stevens' pastime, was almost successful in the second game of the Class L tournament against Concord. Dick Klementowicz (below), Spud Wentzell, Pete Zotto, and Hank Tenney were the seniors completing their final season.

FIGHTING FOR THE LOOSE BALL, Ray Wentzell showed the fight of a team that came back strong with one of the most exciting season finishes in several years. Ray, a transfer from Towle, was a welcome asset to the varsity this year.

Girls' Teams Have Successful Season

WINNING FOUR STRAIGHT, the girls' varsity basketball team started the season in amazing style and then finished the season with six wins and two losses. FRONT: Pat Rollins, Ann Fecteau, Maria Boccia, Leslie Wolcott, Sandra Bostwick, Betty Riviezzo, Marilyn Brody; BACK: Coach Linda Horning, Brenda Ruest, Susan Arlin, Gerry Rogers, Yolande Lemieux, Virginia Washburn, and Martha Miner.

VARSITY SCORES: Towle 42—28, Hartford 43—28, Lebanon 33—25, Windsor 51—44 and 56—72, Lebanon 65—35, Towle 32—33, Hartford 53—29. Won 6, Lost 2.

JUNIOR VARSITY SCORES: Towle 19—11, Hartford 6—6, Lebanon 17—8, Windsor 19—10 and 25—15, Lebanon 24—27, Towle 17—15, Hartford 19—12. Won 6, Lost 1, Tied 1.

LOSING ONLY ONE, the junior varsity team completed the season as the most successful Stevens team. The freshmen and sophomores who played were (FRONT) Pauline Zombeck, Linda Shaw, Roberta Easter, Althea Davis and Sheila Colby; (BACK) Carol Fowler, Denise LaBonte, Sandra Hoff, Marie Sadonsky, and Ann Sadonsky, and Coach Carol Loiselle.

Skiing — Sport of Symmetry and Grace

WAITING FOR SNOW, the Cardinal ski team was disappointed by the weatherman during the early season. A limited snowfall plus inadequate local facilities contributed to the last place finish in the Class A meet. FRONT: Harry Stevens, Jim McMullen, Dave Masury, Ron Kurach, Tim Boudette; SECOND ROW: Jim Chrostowski, Bob Hammond, Mike Hirshberg, Roger Rosinski; BACK: Sam Schatz, Captain Dave Wilbur, Bob Buckley, Brian Dagenais, and Cleve Kapala.

Symbols of School Spirit and Pride

Determination — Their By-Word

NEW ENGLAND TOURNAMENT PARTICIPANTS included the 1961 Stevens Cross Country Team. With a 6—5 record during the regular season, the team placed second in the TSV meet, third in the state meet, and thirteenth in the New England tournament. FRONT: Warren Sklar, Leo

FINISHED SECOND at the NHIAA meet at Durham was Stevens freshman star Gary Roberts, who was followed in seventh place by Wayne LaPorte. The two Cardinals qualified individually for the New England Contest.

The Desire to Win

WEIGHT EVENTS are an important part of spring track. Top men in these events are Joe Formichelli, Rocky Haubrich, Del Sanford, Bob Sharp, and Bill Tenney.

STEVENS RUNNERS LAST SPRING blazed their way to many victories. Top men in these events were Bob LaClair, Wayne Laporte, Warren Wilson, Steve Paskavich, Spud Wentzell.

The Skill to Find Victory

LAST SPRING, GIRLS' TENNIS was started at Stevens. Members of this first team were Charity Engle, Nancy Moss, Gerry Rogers, Shana Winer, Ellen Clark, Sandra Juda, Sid Jarvis, Sharon Wilson, Marilyn Brody, Nancy Young, and Debbie Whitney.

SQUARING OFF against each other for a practice match, both Mike Hirshberg and Steve Borofsky exhibit the form that last year made them valuable assets to the team.

WITH THE PROMISE of a bright future, the boys' tennis teams looks back philosophically at last years winless season. Members were Steve Borofsky, Mike Bayer, Bob Buckley, Gary Sinawski, Cleve Kapala, Mike Hirshberg, Steve Brandstatter, and Bill Henault.

Form — Prime Asset of Golfers

mings, Arnold Chandler, and Bob Hammond comprise the nucleus of the 1962 team.

RUNNER-UP IN THE STATE TOURNAMENT, Charles Rathbun makes an easy put at the Claremont Country Club. Coach Potter, Dan Peterson, Bob Hammond and Sam Schatz were proud of the team's 3—1 record last spring. Arnold Chandler, Peterson, and Schatz joined Rathbun at the state meet where the team finished seventh of fifteen teams.

Mutual Co-operation — Producer of Benefits

HAVING MET THE REQUIREMENTS set up by the organization's charter members and incorporated in its constitution are these members of the Girls' Athletic Association. Sportsmanship and leadership are qualities easily found in all GAA members. FRONT ROW: Sandra Bostwick, Marilyn Brody, Pamela Middleton, and Leslie Wolcott; BACK ROW: Gerry Rogers, Nancy Greenwood and Pauline LaBombard.

ADMIRING STEVENS' TROPHIES are Coach Linda Horning and Coach Don Campbell, hoping their teams will be able to add to the display. Miss Horning is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and holds a B.S. in Physical Education. Mr. Campbell graduated from Springfield College and holds an M.S.

Social Enjoyment, Integral Part of Stevens' - Way-of-Life

Along with studying, the students at Stevens succeed in deriving great enjoyment from their participation in social activities.

This fall, the Home Economics department sponsored a semi-formal dance. In November, the annual Senior Play was presented by the Senior Class with the assistance of the Dramatic Club.

Recently, new attractions have been added to the social calendar. In January, the National Honor Society and the Student Council sponsored a dance after the Berlin — Stevens basketball game. The Dramatic Club sponsored a Valentine dance in February.

The social highlight of the school year is the annual Junior Prom (at left). It is the only school-sponsored formal dance.

Once in a Lifetime

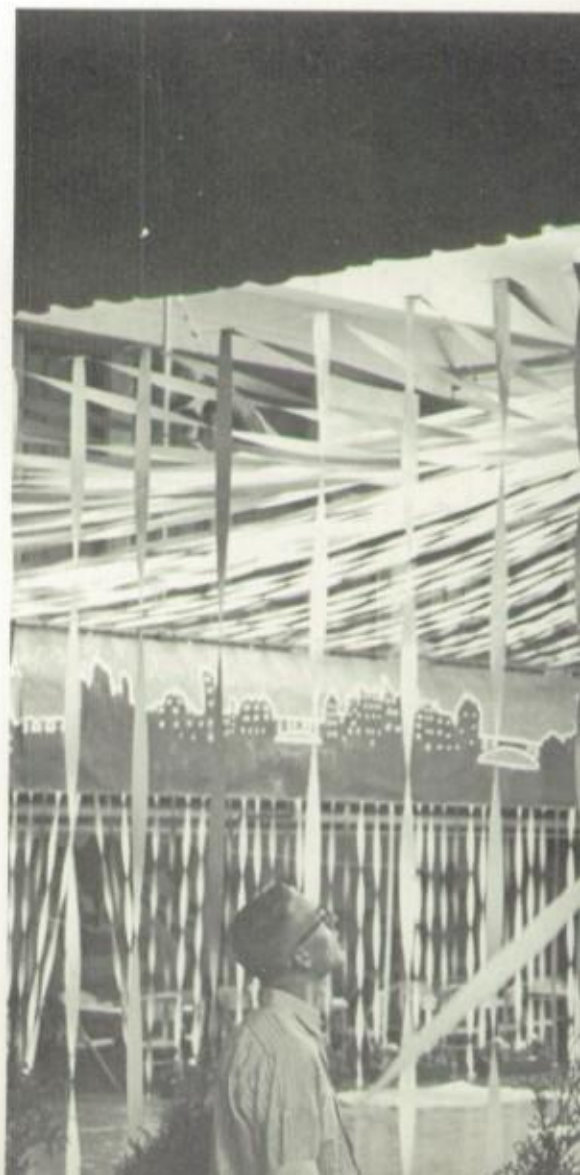

OUR PROM QUEEN, Donna Reed, is surrounded by her court: Roberta Luce, Nancy Greenwood, and Kathleen Mc-

Laughlin, Juniors; Elizabeth Buinicky, a Senior; Judith Stahl, a Sophomore; and Shana Winer, a Freshman.

THE ARCH OF TRIUMPH gave entrance to the dance floor; but before that fabulous evening, many like Pat Leamond, contributed a great deal of time and energy to its creation.

FASTENING THE MANY STREAMERS, white, pink, baby blue and light blue, are John Callum and Carl Isham, two illustrious Junior boys.

An Evening in Paris

AN EVENING IN PARIS, the prom theme, was created by Nancy Greenwood and Roberta Luce and carried out with the aid of Janet Mower, Barbara Ordway, Cynthia Spaulding, Linda Billings and many others.

QUEEN OF PARIS for one evening, Donna Reed leads a dance with her escort and general chairman of the dance, John Miles.

Fun and Entertainment

Colorful streamers and unique balcony decorations make a stunning setting for this year's Home Economics Dance. Alton Sanford, and Sid Jarvis; and Don Hackett and Carolyn Young seem to be enjoying a fast dance.

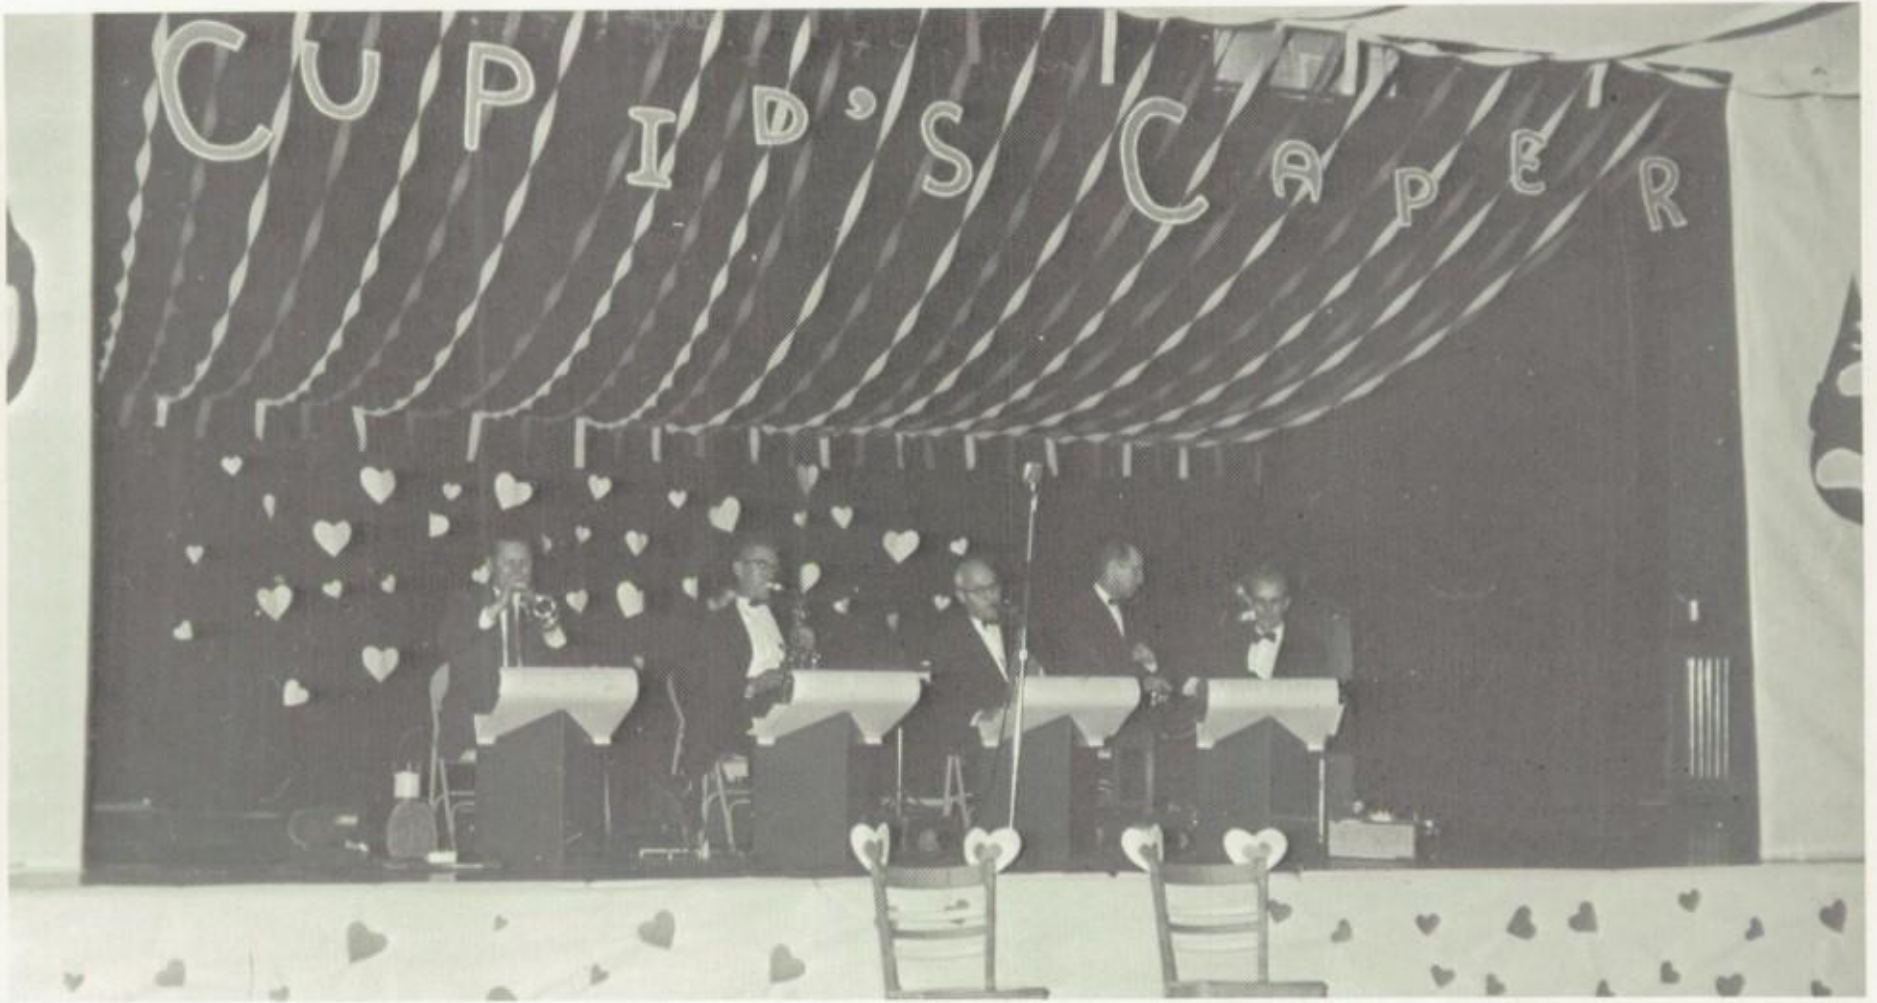

Dancing is not the only enjoyment to be had at dance. Friends — a friend, Lynda Scott, Bill French, and Steve Bryant — always get together for a chat.

Entrance to this year's Home Economics Dance, "Candy Fantasy," was an enormous white life saver, through which all must pass to reach the dance floor.

Stevens' Social Life

CUPID'S CAPER, with Duke Kearns and his band, was the Valentine Dance sponsored by the Dramatics Club. Under the direction of President Amos Russell and Mr.

Dyer, the Cardinal Players decorated the gymnasium, highlighted by a ceiling of red and white streamers.

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS, Warren Wilson and Suanne Sklar, were elected by the entire student body for special recognition of poise, personality, character and appearance.

CUPID IN PERSON arrived at the Capers. Joanne Eroszonak and Eugene Pederson observed the art work of Mr. Talman Budd and his art staff, who helped beautify this dance.

Senior Play — Annual Presentation

"CHARLEY'S AUNT," the hilarious comedy, was presented by the class of 1962 with Larry Delorier as Charley Wykeham; Gerry-Ann Rogers as Amy Spettique; John Sumner as Sir Francis Chesney; Nancy Greenwood as Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez; Michael Hirsh-berg as Brassett; Amos Russell as Lord Fancourt Babberly; Janet Mower as Ela Delahag; Warren Sklar as Stephen Spettique; and Nathan Ainsworth as Jack Chesney. (Missing Anne Remick as Kitty.)

CONSTANTLY INFURIATING was the "aunt" at Jack and Charley, and this scene with Amos Russell and Gerry-Ann Rogers (in FRONT) and Nathan Ainsworth and Larry Delorier (in BACK) is no exception.

of Well Trained Senior Talent

STEPHEN SPETTIQUE and Sir Francis Chesney are always on hand to wait on Charley's "Aunt" hand and foot; but this time, only the audience appreciated their good intentions.

SINCE JACK CHESNEY and Charles Wydeham were the only ones who knew the identity of Charley's "Aunt," they found it quite necessary to conceal the fact from Amy Spettique and her Uncle Stephen. However, the "aunt" was not always so easy to conceal.

Organizational and Social Play Vital Roles in Character Development

The need for a varied and diversified extra-curricula program has over the years given rise to many different organizations.

Displaying the enjoyment of the fruit-full labor involved in insuring the success of a worthwhile organization, are these members of the Stentor staff: Artie McPhee, Beverly Quimby, Ted Davis, Donna Diamond, and Pat Leamond at left.

Since a great many students, however, have neither the specialized ability nor the desire to participate in certain activities, a wide variety of organizations has been developed to enable each student to channel his energies toward constructive and meaningful goals of relaxation, accomplishment, self-expression, and service. There are organizations designed to aid in the individual's preparation for his future, such as the Future Teachers of America. Others offer work in photography, journalism, and dramatics.

Some are geared primarily for relaxation and social activities. However, each organization, standing alone, can be molded into a carefully developed program designed to develop the potentialities of each individual. That is why, at Stevens, the pursuit of extra-curricula activities has become an integral and basic structure in that particular way of life that is Stevens High School.

Dramatics — Facet of Self-Expression

INTERESTED IN THE THEATER ARTS, the Cardinal Players accept an excellent opportunity to express themselves. This year's members are: FRONT: F. Witkowski, M. Gendall, W. Sklar, R. Hall, T. Davis, L. Delorier, A. Russell, K. Clement, J. Woodman; SECOND ROW: A. Winer, D. Gagnon, S. Pierce, D. Diamond, D. Spaulding, J. Mower, R. Thompson, S. Pierce, B. Bonner, R. McCusker; THIRD ROW: D. Denis, J. Langlois, P. White, M. Campbell, C. Tinker, S. Little, C. L. Howe, N. Moss, B. Newton, P.

STUDENTS WHO EXCEL in dramatic work find recognition for their efforts in the National Thespian Society. Officers for this year's formal initiation ceremony were Anne Remick, Ted Davis, Gerry-Ann Rogers, Amos Russell, Judy Blewitt and Roland Vadney.

Future Rests on Reason and Knowledge

Debating has become a fixed and purposeful activity at Stevens. Doing far better this year than last, the debating club won seven out of sixteen rounds at Dartmouth College, competed in a field of seventy-five teams in the New England Tournament, defeated Hanover High School, and lost to Springfield High School. Members of the Debating Club are Mrs. Davis, adviser, Mike Gendall, Harold Hall, John Harlan, John Mancantelli, Ted Davis, President; Kathy Bonneau, Donna Southwick, Katherine Woodward, Shana Winer, Susan Allen, and Sally Little. Discussing their topic (below), Federal Aid to Education, are John Harlan and Susan Allen. Doing the necessary research are Steve Borofsky and Donna Southwick, at lower left.

Informed Society Provides Better Life

EDITORIAL STAFF OF THE SCHOOL PAPER, the Stentor, under the able direction of Mr. John Tucker are Pat Leamond, Donna Diamond, Linda Bruce, Beverly Quimby, Susan Arlin, Karol

Blish, Melissa Morrison, Sharlene Bradley, Mr. Tucker — the adviser, Robert Gilmore, Ted Davis, and Arthur McPhee.

PUBLISHING THE STENTOR is this staff made up of members of all the classes. SEATED are Sheila Wolcott, Sandra Pierce, Cynthia Stearns, Sheila Pierce, Lee Hoyt and STANDING are Sandra Robinson, Margaret Barton, Roberta Easter, Marsha Talbot, Linda Lefebvre, Bill French, Gary Daniels, Greg McGowan, Jeff Haubrich, Barbara Newton, Joan Rogan, Linda Michalenoick, Brenda Ruest, and Sally Little.

Firm Judgement: Wise Student Government

Janet Mower, Philip Cohen, Louis Lizotte, William Ferriter, Theodore Davis, and Donna Diamond. The Council decorated the front of the school at Christmas time and co-sponsored the Berlin Weekend.

Those Dedicated to Service

JUNIOR LIBRARIANS delight in carrying out the services provided by the library. They are STANDING: Linda Scott, Marsha Howe, Carolyn Bowles, and Pamela Moore; SEATED: Carol Ann Howe, Suanne Sklar, Judy Blewitt, Leslie Wolcott, Sandra Bostwick, Nancy Moss, and Marcia Talbert.

CHECKING OUT BOOKS, Carol Ann Howe demonstrates one of the principal functions of the junior librarians.

to Others Through Themselves

LARGE AND ACTIVE is The Distributive Education Club at Stevens. Its members are (SEATED) Mr. Goodrich, the adviser; Arnold MacNamara, Daniel Haynes, David Forsaith, Donna Spaulding, Susan Brooks, Pauline Howard, Maria Buswell, Karen Loiselle, Linda Bruce, Bernice Roy, Linda

Loiselle; (STANDING) Henry Cummings, Jim Woodman, Elliot Davis, Bob Anderson, Roland Bernard, Bill Pederson, Jim Howard, Larry Beam, Norman Wright, Stephen Wadleigh, Raymond Wentzell, Larry Aiken, Wayne Hart, Paul Jackson.

OTHER ACTIVITIES INCLUDED a car wash and sponsorship of the DECA award. This award is presented annually to the senior exemplifying Dependability, Effort, Character and Achievement. Stan Pietrusiewicz and Pete McMullen have received the award.

DECA members went to Boston during February vacation to visit the Sears Building and educational and entertaining places.

FOOD AND BALL GAMES go hand in hand, and this year the DECA club provided the food at both football games in the fall, and basketball games during the winter. Here two members of the club, Maria Buswell and Susan Brooks, are industriously at work at one of the basketball games.

Reproducers of a Way of Life

Seniors have labored diligently during this past year in an attempt to transfer to the written page all those abstract elements which constitute the exclusive way of life that is Stevens. The set-up of the entire book was done by the layout staff (ABOVE), composed of Nat Ainsworth, Leslie Wolcott, John Miles (editor), Bernie Revoir (assistant-editor), Pat Rollins, and Jim Chrostowski. Those members of the literary staff (ABOVE, 2nd ROW) who attempted to convey the Stevens message through their writing were Don Hackett, Sue Moss, Bob Michener, Nancy Greenwood, and Dave Wilbur. Members of the business staff (BELOW) who trudged throughout Claremont in a successful drive to promote local sponsorship were Mary Narus, Maria Buswell, Pat Leamond, Pauline Howard, Janet Mower, Susan Brooks, Linda Baldasaro, Kathleen McLaughlin, Donna

Reed, Karol Blish, Mr. Sideris, adviser, Mike Gaydo, Roberta Luce, Sandra Stevens, Nancy Wilson, Ann Remick, Marilyn Brody, Sandra Pierce, Pam Middleton, Bonnie Amell, Amos Russell, and Brian Moore. Classifying all their classmates is the job of Bob LaClair, Carol Ann Howe, Carolyn Bowles, and Acie Chandler, members of the senior staff. (OPPOSITE, TOP) Recording the rich Stevens sports history is the sports staff with Pam Middleton, Pat Rollins, Spud Wentzell, and Gerry Rogers. At the FAR RIGHT is the typing staff with Ellen Poland, Sheila Magoon, Cynthia Spaulding, Esther Lizotte, Priscilla Michaud, Pat Cyr, Beverly Quimby, and Linda Billings. Selling the yearbooks was done by the sales staff with Ronald Foisy, Pauline LaBombard, Carl Isham, Sandra Bostwick, and John Sumner.

Stevens' Way-of-Life Is One of Many Facets

The typical noon lunch line emphasizes the variety of activities constantly being carried on at Stevens through the course of an ordinary day. Immediately after the bells ring around 8:00 A.M., students rush down to the music room, grab their instruments, and hurry to the auditorium for forty-five minutes of participation in one of the many musical activities. Also at this hour, the citizens of Stevens travel through the halls to the numerous organizational activities.

After the 8:50 summons to morning classes, the entire school appears quieted and subdued for the three morning hours. However, at the end of third period, the students seem to suddenly spring to life again and the cafeteria and music room are rapidly filled by a noisy throng who gather to eat a hasty lunch. Later, the entire morning routine may be followed, with music and organizational activity abounding.

Whatever it may be, the steady march of socializing continues, interrupted only by afternoon classes and perhaps ending with a grueling two or three hours of athletic pursuit or another organizational meeting in the evening.

Whenever or wherever the activity occurs, no matter what it involves, whether hard physical labor in the gym or just chatting in the halls, it forms that integral part of the Stevens' Way of Life which the student usually enjoys most.

Daily Nutrition Insures Alert Classroom Behavior

Serving one carefully balanced meal each day, plus providing coffee break facilities for school employees, the Stevens High cafeteria has a fine reputation for good food and quality. Mrs. Evelyn Kimball and Mrs. Myrtle Weed, ABOVE, spent each morning preparing the meal for students and faculty. The picture BELOW shows a typical lunch line, its length attesting to the popularity of the cafeteria meals.

Proper Facilities Promote Daily Routine

Each noon hour sees the music room filled with hungry students preparing for another afternoon of intellectual labor. As shown above, this period is a time of gaiety, attesting to the congenial atmosphere of Stevens.

Russell Fowler, Priscilla Mullins, and John Magill (below) arrive at Stevens. They are among the many students who use the city-owned bus system serving the Claremont schools.

Stevens Band — the Apex

SYMPHONIC BAND MUSIC requires good musicians, much woodshedding, and a wide range of musicianship. Mr. Walter Paskevich directs in one of the many rehearsals necessary for outstanding performance. Several important sections are pictured here, namely the French horn, flute, clarinet, and trumpet section. Each musician, whether first or last, must be constantly alert in rehearsal as well as public appearance.

STEVENS' MUSICIANS do justice to the works of Sousa, Hall and other illustrious composers in the field of military band music. Each fall the band appears at a majority of the football games to add color to the afternoon and spirit to the Stevens rooters. On these occasions the punch and strength of the 72 piece marching unit is appreciated.

of Unison and Rhythm

OBOE, LOWER BRASS, AND PERCUSSION are vitally essential to the organization. The depth of the Stevens' band stems from proficiency in these sections. Included among the lower brass are the baritones, sousaphones, and trombones. The percussion section includes a great number of rhythm instruments. Exceptionally strong this year are the flute and saxophone sections which are pictured above.

REHEARSING as often as five times weekly, the band members have the opportunity to gain much experience and musicianship. During the winter months the band appeared at basketball games and in the spring it marched in several parades, climaxed with the annual Alumni Day Parade.

Music Provides Avenues

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRAS are today sadly falling behind symphonic band and choral groups. At Stevens, as is pictured at right, Mr. Paskevich manages to turn out annually a good organization, despite the handicap imposed by a scarcity of violin, viola, and cello players.

Melodious Voices Rise

BEAUTIFUL CHRISTMAS MUSIC was the high light of the Christmas Concert again this year as the A Cappella Choir and other members of the student body joined together to form the Christmas Chorus. The masterful artistry on the background, stressing the sacred theme of the concert, was produced by the Claremont Art Department. One of the most enjoyed moments of the entire evening came when Donna Reed and Marilyn Sheldon sang the traditional Christmas favorite, "O Holy Night."

Adult Program Extends Learning

CONVERSATIONAL RUSSIAN FOR BEGINNERS was taught this year for the first time in the Claremont Adult Education program. Twenty-five students joined instructor Michael Yatsevich (ABOVE) in one of six locally-sponsored evening courses. Other classes included Woodworking as a Hobby, Shorthand, Physical Fitness for Women, Advanced Tailoring and Intermediate Sewing.

BASIC TIME STUDY (BELOW) was one of three technical courses offered during the second semester. These courses, subsidized by the federal government under the National Defense Education Act, are open to employees of machine tool industries of this region. After qualifying on a battery of tests, the adults study over a period of years to become highly trained technicians, vital to the national defense.

Officers Elected to Represent SHS Under- classmen

The class of 1963, producers of this year's Junior Prom, is led by vice president Warren Wilson, secretary Lynda Scott, treasurer Francis Chabot, and president William French. The class elected Bill French and John LaBounty as co-chairmen of the prom.

Having come to the realization that Stevens High School is a way of life, the Class of 1964 elected Thomas Kittridge, president; Ellen Clark, treasurer; Sydney Jarvis, vice president; Hazel Livingston, secretary.

SHS Seniors Realize Dreaming Doesn't Mold Future: Study Does

The class returned easily to the hallowed halls and customs which form the traditions of the school.

Many of the class engaged in a great deal of extra-curricula activities, as evidenced by representation in organizations and on the athletic teams.

However, the most characteristic element of the 1962 senior class is study. Seniors realize that their future depends upon their performance and accomplishments at Stevens High School.
